A Study of Sir Seed Ahmad Khan's Political services

Sir Seed Ahmed Khan is known for his work in politics and religion. His primary concentration remains religion until 1857 when he takes the role of a political activist for guiding the Indian Muslims. He believes that a writer has to be socio-politically committed to some cause and his publication 'Asbab Baghawat-e-Hind'(The Causes of Indian revolt) published in 1859 amply strengthens this point of view. Also, the spirit of his educational reforms was political too. In his advocacy for rationalism and enlightenment, he has to face immense resistance by the orthodox majority of Muslims, but he remains unshakable as a visionary entity. The given paper encircles his political services for India which enabled her to assert her existence in the fog of colonial forces.
